

Wyndham Reach Pier, Florida

waterfront & marinas

The Wyndham Casa Marina Resort retained Coastal Systems International Inc. to provide architectural and engineering design services for the Reach Pier located at the Reach Resort in Key West, Florida.

The pier was designed with concrete pile supports to withstand hurricane force winds and waves. The concrete caps support planks with IPE wood decking for maximum service life. There is a decorative wood trellis and gazebo, which match the Key West historical architectural designs and regulations. A timber boardwalk with an elegant curve was designed to provide handicap access from the resort building to the pier. Coastal Systems also prepared and processed all DEP (Department of Environmental Protection) permit.

In addition, Coastal Systems provided construction administration services assisting in the selection of a contractor in order to ensure that the project was completed in accordance with the contract plans.
